Comments:

The most recent data for 2013 reporting is the ABS 2011 Census.

Data sources for this measure are:

- Census

The baseline report reported data from the 2006 Census as the main data collection.

For persons 'with' a non-school qualification:

- Persons whose level of non-school qualification is determined to be certificate level but is not able to be further defined (i.e. Certificate nfd) are assumed to have attained below Certificate level III and are therefore excluded from the numerator for this indicator.
- Persons whose level of non-school qualification cannot be determined are assumed to have attained below Certificate level III and are therefore excluded from the numerator for this indicator.
- Census data exclude persons whose level of education was not stated (not applicable to survey data as there are no 'not stated' responses).

For persons 'working towards' a non-school qualification:

- Level of qualification is not available for people 'working towards' post-school qualifications. Therefore, people working towards any non-school qualification are included in the calculations for this indicator.

At this stage, the Australian Bureau of Statistics (ABS) advises that information is only available on qualification levels for those who have completed studies (not those who are currently studying). Therefore, the ABS recommended restricting the definition for baseline reporting accordingly to those who have completed Certificate Level III or above, and those currently studying a non-school qualification.

Baseline year for NIRA target (Halve the gap in employment outcomes within a decade) is 2008; baseline year for this measure is 2006.

Data disaggregated by remoteness area were not available for reporting during the 2013 reporting cycle.
